Houston Business Journal's inaugural C-Suite Awards recognized top executives of for-profit and nonprofit companies who are innovators, trailblazers, role models, standard-setters and leaders in the Houston area.

HBJ launched nominations in March, and a panel of expert judges selected 32 finalists from more than 100 submissions. The executives were judged based on their contribution to company success, civic involvement and career achievement. In addition, the judges selected one finalist as the 2015 Executive of the Year for accumulating the highest score out of all the honorees.
