The Richland Companies, a real estate investment company headquartered in Houston, announced they will be entering the Corpus Christi market with the acquisition of a Pizza Hut & Wing Street located at 2120 South Staples St.

The restaurant becomes Richland's 35th asset nationwide. Richland will assume management responsibilities of the property.

"Corpus Christi is known as the 'Texas Riviera' with the fifth-largest port in the United States, and we've had Corpus on our radar for a while," said Edna Meyer-Nelson, president and CEO of the Richland Companies, in a news release. "Being on the main thoroughfare to Corpus' popular waterfront, surrounded by more than 107,000 residents within a three mile radius fits perfectly with our strategy of finding high-potential properties in locations positioned for extreme growth."
