

GHWCC names Houston's Women to Watch in Business in 2017

These women have got it going on in Houston's business world.

By Heather Leighton, Chron.com / Houston Chronicle

Updated 8:29 am, Wednesday, March 8, 2017

Edna Meyer Nelson, President and CEO

Company: The Richland Companies

Along with her responsibilities as president and CEO, she can be found lecturing at Rice University and University of Houston.

March is the month of honoring women's history and their impact on their communities for the better. For Houston, there's a unique group of women who are making history in the business world. With the help of the Greater Houston Women's Chamber of Commerce, Chron.com introduces the Women to Watch in Business in 2017. The honorees are directing and changing the face of Houston business leaders.

Some of the women featured have started their own businesses from the ground up, while others have expertly moved up within their company over the years.